

ABSTRACT

An information providing apparatus is provided that is for structuring and presenting the detailed information of an event, reflecting the environmental conditions of the event and customized for each user, for various events relating to information such as a news article or a publicity (for example, systems for tax, pension, public service fees, services, etc).